Participant Advisement

SDSU DUI program counselors have specialized training, hold certification, and practice within a narrow scope of treatment, providing an array of evidenced-based interventions for individuals convicted of a DUI.

Initials: A structured bio-psychosocial assessment is utilized to develop recommendations (not based upon questionnaire responses to the Alcohol Use Disorders Identification initialed) Test (AUDIT) and The Drug Abuse Screening Test (DAST 10), Recommendations are consistent with national standards developed by the American Society of Addiction Medicine (ASAM). It is not a diagnosis, which can only be provided by a licensed medical professional. We strongly recommend you discuss your questionnaire scores and recommendations with your medical provider for further evaluation, medical management, and exploration of treatment options.

Initials: If you are taking medications and consuming alcohol and/or drugs, we strongly (not encourage you to consult with your medical provider to address potential health initialed) risks.

Initials: Please be advised that many medications are counter-indicated with the use of (not alcohol and other drugs. Many medications have synergistic, antagonistic, or initialed) additive effects when mixed with alcohol and/or other drugs and this combination may result in unanticipated consequences. Many physicians may not advise their patients of this because they may be unaware of the frequency or quantity of their patients' alcohol consumption and/or drug use.

Initials: Please be advised, abstinence is an optimal goal for those with substance use (not disorders, or for those with health or mental health conditions that can be initialed) exacerbated by the use of alcohol or other drugs. In accordance with CCR Title 9, program sobriety, defined as not being under the influence of any amount of alcohol or drugs, while present at the facility or while driving, is an absolute requirement. Any continued use of alcohol or drugs, including some medications, may place you at risk for DUI recidivism.

Initials: A person can be prosecuted for murder in the State of California if he/she drives (not intoxicated and causes an accident that kills another person. DUI second degree initialed) murder (otherwise known as a "Watson Murder") is the most serious California DUI felony charge.

Initials: If you have established abstinence or are in recovery, utilize your time in program (not to enhance your relapse prevention strategies. Consult a physician for further initialed) evaluation and exploration of treatment options if efforts to remain abstinent are difficult.
